On to Washington.

The official route for the Kentucky delegates to the Christian Endeavor Convention which meets in Washington July 8-13 is the L. & N. to Cincinnati and B. & O. S. W., and B. & O. from Cincinnati to Washington, a rate of one fare for the round trip has been secured, or $14.55 from Winchester, sleeping car rates will be $3 per berth from Cincinnati or $1.50 per person when two, occupy the same berth. This will be one of the best C. E. excursions ever conducted from the State members of the State Executive Committee will give it their personal attention.

Each coach and sleeper will be in charge of a manager who will provide C. E. entertainment during the journey. Ladies traveling without escorts will be placed in charge of chaperons, who will accompany the delegation. A representative of the lines, thoroughly familiar with the many points of interest along the route will accompany the excursion and see that the trip is made a most delightful one. The hotel rates at Washington will be $1 per day, European plan. Private Home entertainment, including meals can be obtained at from $1.50 to $2.50 per day, for each person. Circulars pertaining to this excursion have been sent to Rev. A. J. Arrick of this city who will cheerfully give any information desired.

Election of Trustees.

The election held last Saturday for the election of school Trustees was quiet and resulted in the re-election of the old board, L. T. Chiles, H. R. French, Owen Laughlin and T. J. Bigsaw and Dr. R. C. Drake, an excellent board.

I have put up a grist mill at Grassy Lick with all the latest improvements making the best meal and will do custom grinding, beginning Saturday at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Jim Williamsism.

The Courier-Journal isn't in a good humor about the unseating of the regular delegation from the 48th Legislative District, and to tell the truth, few, even among the extreme silverites, can blame it for bitterly resenting the outrage. So far as we have talked with the Montgomery county delegation we have not found a single man who has not expressed regret for this act on the part of the Lexington Convention.

The Courier-Journal says:

"No more shameless and execrable outrage was ever perpetrated in politics than the expulsion by the Lexington convention of the regular delegation from the Forty-eighth District, comprising the Sixth and Seventh Wards of Louisville, and the admission in their stead of the crowd drummed up by the notorious Jim Williams."

"It was an outrage to the like of which a Democratic convention in Kentucky never before descended."

"It was an outrage the equal of which would be hard to recall in all the course of disreputable and unscrupulous 'practical politics' in either party."

"It was an outrage to which it would be probably useless to seek a parallel."

There were about 300 of them there to vote for a sound money delegation, and there is not one of them who does not know that every pretension that the silverites had anything approaching a majority is preposterously false.

"It was perfectly patent that beyond about a dozen silverites who were considered reputable citizens of the district, the Williams gang was made up of less than a hundred hoodlums raked up by Williams and his men Gray from the rat holes of the town, fully twenty or thirty of whom left the hall before Williams attempted to put his programme through, and most of whom were paid off in a saloon at 25 cents a head after the convention adjourned. Williams' little gang was so weak that not one of them asked a division, and after Williams had tried in vain to usurp the powers of Chairman Buchanan and rush a snap delegation through, he stood at the corner of the platform shouting incessantly to his crowd to 'Howl 'em down!' but there were not enough of them, to make a respectable chorus to Williams' yawn and when he went through the form of putting his slate through after the adjournment of the convention there were not two dozen men who participated in the farce."

Death of John R. Blount.

Mr. John R. Blount died at his late residence near Grassy Lick on last Saturday, the 6th instant, from flux, in the 69th year of his age. He was born in Nicholas county October 24, 1827, and moved to this county in December, 1873. January 20, 1850, he was married to Miss Louisa Irvine, who, with two children, Frank H. and John H., survive him. They had four children. W. K. died January 26, 1884, and Mrs. Mary L. Shanklin died August 23, 1889.

Mr. Blount was a successful farmer and in his political, religious and business life as well worked and acted according to a practical theory. He had always been a Democrat and was a strict adherent to party principles. He became a member of the Baptist church when quite young and had been a reader of the State religious journal, the Western Recorder, for more than forty years. His funeral was preached Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church, this city, by Rev. Everette Gill, and was buried in Maplehill cemetery. The wife in declining years, children and grandchildren have the sympathy of their host friends.

Excursion to Natural Bridge to-morrow.

Chief of Police Wilson Assaulted.

On Saturday night several of our young men, among them Chief of Police Charles T. Wilson, donned their linen suits and boarded the 9:35 train for Olympia, intending to spend Sunday at Olympia Springs. On the train a man was so boisterous that the conductor called Wilson, whom he knew to be an officer, to his aid and put the man off. Two others who were with the fellow, promised to behave themselves if allowed to remain on the train, and this being all the conductor desired, they were allowed to ride to their homes at Olympia. When the train had pulled up at Olympia, one of the men, Pergam, picked up a rock and threw it at the conductor. The rock passed through the train. This offense constituting a felony the conductor called on Wilson to arrest the offender. Wilson walked up to his man and informed him he was his (Wilson's) prisoner. Pergam did not think so and showed fight. Wilson thought his man only about his equal, physically, and proceeded to whip him into submission. It was a pretty tough conflict, Pergam, so Wilson says, putting up a mighty good fight. At this stage a man named Thomas ran up with a fence picket and began belaboring Wilson over the head and back. This was more than Wilson could stand and he reached for his pistol, only to find that he had dropped it in the scuffle. When Pergam and Thomas saw Wilson go for his gun, they left and stood not on the order of their going. The boys who had accompanied Wilson up to Olympia knowing that he would shoot and seeing the fellow belaboring him thought a killing the next thing in order and did not stay to see what might happen. Fortunately for all concerned the officers pistol was not at hand. Wilson, who is himself as brave as the bravest, rather admired the pluck of Pergam and would willingly have submitted to a good pounding from him if he was not able to best his man in a fair fight, was thoroughly angry when the man Thomas attacked him in so cowardly a manner from behind, and did his best to find a gun, his intention being to arrest the fellows at every hazard.

The two men, Pergam and Thomas, were arrested and will have their trial to-day. Chief Wilson was not much hurt, though some of the boys who were with him got scared and telegraphed his friends here he was dangerously hurt. Mr. Wilson is one of the best and most quiet and gentlemanly police officials we know. The most that can be said against him is, that utterly fearless, he takes too many chances with disreputables.

A woman's headache may come from several causes. She may have a headache arising from nervousness, or from digestive disturbances. Nausea in ten, her headaches come from disorders peculiar to her sex. It may show itself in the symptoms which are characteristic of a dozen disorders. Thousands of times women have been treated for disorders. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was compounded for the sole purpose of relieving womanhood of these ills and pains. Thousands of women have testified that after taking treatment from several physicians without benefit, the "Favorite Prescription" cured them completely and quickly. It has been used for over thirty years, and has an unbroken record of success.

The woman who hesitates is invited to send 21 one-cent stamps to cover only the cost of mailing a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which contains plain, clear information about all of the organs of the human body and their functions.

Go on the excursion to-morrow.

More

Curative power is contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and it is worth more to the consumer. More skill is required in its preparation and it combines more remedial qualities than of any other medicine. Consequently it has a record of more cures and its sales are more than that of any other preparation. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to buy because it is an honest medicine and thousands of testimonials prove that it does actually and permanently cure disease.

The Evergreen Baptist Church will be dedicated next Sunday afternoon. Rev. Everett Gill of the First Baptist church will preach the sermon at 3 o'clock. Our colored friends deserve credit for the promptness in building their new house of worship. It is a handsome frame structure of modern style and will seat about 350 people.

A Chance to Make Money.

I have berries, grapes and peaches, a year old, fresh as when picked. I use the California Cold process, do not lose or seal the fruit, just put it up cold. Keeps perfectly fresh and costs almost nothing; can put up a bushel in ten minutes. Last week I sold directions to over 130 families; anyone will pay a dollar for directions when they see the beautiful samples of fruit. As there are many people poor like myself, I consider it my duty to give my experience to such, and feel confident any one can make one or two hundred dollars round home in a few days. I will mail sample of fruit and complete directions, to any of your readers, for eighteen two-cent stamps, which is only the actual cost of the samples, postage, etc., to me.

THE LEXINGTON CONVENTION.

COMPLETES ITS WORK AND ADJOURNS.

J. C. S. Blackburn Endorsed For President.

BLACKBURN, HARDIN, RHEA AND ELLIS

Delegates at Large to the National Convention.

The Democratic Convention met at Lexington Wednesday. The only thing that went was silver.

The convention was organized by selecting State Senator Bromston for temporary chairman and Charles K. Wheeler, of Paducah, for permanent chairman. Blackburn, Hardin, Rhea, and Ellis were made delegates from the State at large and Irtwell, Nelson, Hallam and Carroll alternates. The committee on resolutions presented its report, Tony Carroll, of Louisville, insisting on bringing in a minority report. It goes without saying that Mr. Carroll's report found but an indifferent hearing. The single standard delegation from the 48th Legislative District (one of the Louisville districts) was unceremoniously ousted and the Free Silver delegation headed by Jina Williams seated. Senator Joe Blackburn was endorsed for President of United States. On the whole the convention was more conservative than was to be reasonably expected from the body. It will be remembered that a very large part of the delegates were new men in the State convention. The old leaders in the main did not have very much to do with the conduct of affairs.

The following is the report of the committee on resolutions:

"The Democracy of Kentucky in convention assembled do reaffirm their allegiance to the principle of the party as announced by Jefferson and Jackson."

"We are in favor of an honest dollar, a dollar worth neither more nor less than one hundred cents. We favor bimetalism, and to that end we demand free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 as standard money, with equal legal tender power, independent of the advice of any other nation."

"We hold that the Secretary of the Treasury should exercise his legal right to redeem all coin obligations in gold or silver, as may be more convenient, and are opposed to the issue of bonds in time of peace for the maintenance of the gold reserve or for any other purpose."

"We are opposed to the national banking system and to any enlargement of its powers, and opposed to any contraction of the currency by the retirement of greenbacks or otherwise."

"We declare it to be a fundamental principle of Democracy that the Federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only, and the collection of such taxes should be limited to the necessities of the government honestly and economically administered."

"That the Democratic party has ever been the party of personal liberty and religious freedom, and is now and always has been opposed to any union of church and State. It is opposed to the enactment of all laws, the purpose or design of which is to sustain or enforce any religious test, or sect, and to any law, organization or society, religious or political, secret or otherwise, that tends to prescribe any citizen for or on account of his religious belief or to apply any such test as a qualification for public office."

"We condemn the action of Gov. Bradley in calling out the State militia as unwarranted, without sanction of law and a menace to civil liberties and rights of the people of Kentucky."

"We declare the support of the party nominees to be the true test of party loyalty, and that every nominee is entitled to the undivided support of the party."

"Resolved, That the delegation chosen by this convention to the national convention to be held at Chicago, July 7, 1896, be and they are instructed to cast the vote of the State of Kentucky in said convention as a unit for the Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn for President of the United States, and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination."

SHARPSBURG ROLLER MILLS.

One of the Best in the State, —Capacity 75 Barrels Per Day.

The Sharpsburg Milling Company has over-hauled its machinery, putting in new parts where needed and now this mill has no superior.

The system adopted by this company is accepted by all millers of any note as the best for producing the highest grades and yielding the most flour. The proprietor of these mills, Mr. M. V. Bostain, is a practical miller and has had an experience in milling of more than 25 years. It was not his object in becoming a miller to simply understand the routine mill work, but he made a study and mastered the theory of how to produce the most and the best at the least expense.

That he has been successful in attaining what was most beneficial is evidenced by the business he has enjoyed during a long period of years. The mills at Carlisle were established by him and their productions have been in constant competition with the most famous mills of the country, and yet they are second to none of them. At Sharpsburg he has profited by his experience in the Carlisle mills and in the over-hauling has given the people and the trade the benefit. These mills are now running on full time and are supplying the local trade and doing a large jobbing business. Their first grade of flour, "The Crystal," makes beautiful cake and its rising qualities in bread are perfect. Persons who have tried it want no other, while their second grade is equal to many of the first grades of other mills. These high qualities are obtained by several reasons, one of which is having the proper machinery, another by the use of the highest grade wheat and another is by having a miller with both practical and theoretical attainments who can bring about the desired results.

A paying trade has been worked up and Mr. Bostain expects to be able to dispose of the entire production of the mill, 75 barrels per day, the year round. Wholesale dealers are requested to send for samples and prices. When his grades have been once tried, they are over afterward asked for. In addition to the flour they also are producers of bran and ship-stuff, and in the price of both flour and feed no other mills have any edge on them. Located, as they are, away from high taxes and exorbitant rents they produce at a very close figure and hence their prices delivered are as favorable as that of any other mills and at the same time it gives a flour which is satisfactory.

NO LONGER ANY DOUBT OF IT.

Gov. Matthews at Last Comes Out Under the Free Silver Flag.

Birmingham, Ala., June 4.—The Birmingham State Herald today published a letter from Claude Matthews, Governor of Indiana, in reply to one written by J. A. Rountree, editor of that paper, to the Indiana executive. In this letter Gov. Matthews makes a bid for the support of the Alabama delegates to the National Convention, and says:

"The indications now that our State Convention will be by a large majority in the control of the silver sentiment, and that a delegation instructed for silver will be sent to Chicago. The feeling with us here is that strong, positive and clear resolutions should be adopted free from evasion of doubtful construction. Personally, I favor a resolution denunciatory of the continuance of the single gold standard, believing that it retards the return of prosperity and will continue to be destructive and injurious to the best interests of the American people and calling for the coinage and use of both gold and silver on equal terms as standard money and demanding the early and independent restoration of silver to its old and rightful place in the coinage of the country."

"With such a platform we will carry Indiana by the largest majority ever given to a presidential candidate. To make a doubtful declaration even with a western candidate or adopt a gold platform means defeat. Seldom has a grander opportunity been offered to a political party, and I trust we may be wise enough to grasp it. Should my views upon this subject accord with those of the delegates of Alabama I would ask for their favorable consideration at Chicago."

A Delicate Question.

Vox G. O. Pull.—Will some gentleman accept second place on the St. Louis ticket?

Paul, Allison, Morton, Mansford, Culham, McKimley, Davis, Brallev, Sewell, Lodge, Cameron, Quay, Shanawaker, Sherwin, Foraker, Harrison, Ellis, Miller, Barrett, Roosevelt, Strong, H. C. Evans, Kohlstaet, Pilley, Kerepy, Manley, Clarkson, Hanna, Et cetera.

blushing: "Really, this is so sudden."

Free Advice to Horse Owners.

If your horse groans when urinating and the urine is thick and "milky" lose no time in feeding a package of Dr. Daule's Horse Renovator. It regulates the stomach and kidneys, increases the weight 40 to 75 pounds in four weeks, and the horse acts and drives "fine as silk." Dr. Daule's Renovator costs fifty cents, (more than some other so-called condition powders). Feed it and you will assert that it is cheaper, because it does what is claimed. Put up in doses. Sold only by J. B. Tipton. Ask for book free. 35-ts

Wright's Colic Tea, cures constipation, sick headaches. 36c at druggists.

NEW CARPETS.

We have laid our lines to do the Carpet Business of the town, and with the equipment we have, we ought to do it.

Ingrain Carpets

All wool and a yard wide. The best extra super, not antiquated or side-tracked patterns among them. All clean, quiet, neutral tints that won't show dust, and they last well.

New Tapestry Brussels

The best it-wire kind, of course. No better medium-priced carpets made. Got a number of ball and stater patterns among them. They've got the looks and wear in them; yet all have the quality, now come in and get the price.

The New Mattings.

Some jointed, some cord-warp, some plain, some fancy, and all good. They're made of good live straw; they're flexible and don't wear out like the poorer, dried-out sorts. What a cool, clean, comfortable floor covering they're a treat to be sure; and so cheap, too, as we sell them.

We make a strong bid for your business in these important items, and are prepared to serve you to your entire satisfaction.

Coast Defences Unserviceable

"It is perfectly fascinating," Maude exclaimed, "to read about the proceedings of congress."

"I suppose it is interesting," Maude answered with a sigh, "but it's not very interesting to a girl."
Yes, but that's where the interest comes. You find out so many things. I never realized until a short time ago how greatly we are in want of coast defenses."

"I don't want to read them at all," Maude replied with emphasis.

"Why, of course, you do."

"I know better. A brake is only so useful in the way. If you come to a hill so steep you are afraid to coast it with one foot on the front tire, the only way to get to the top of your bicycle and walk."

And Maude admitted that this was a view of the subject that had not been presented to her.—Washington

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE WM. M. BECKNER, of Clark County, as a candidate for Congress, in this, the Tenth District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.
We are authorized to announce
HON. THOS. TURNER
as a Democratic candidate for Congress in this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. He will in a few days issue an address in which he will set forth explicitly his views on all public questions and declare for that he recognizes that the only friends honestly differ with him in his advocacy of the full coverage of silver on the basis of public policy, but that he is unwilling to be misrepresented as a supporter of his view to deprive any one into supporting him for the nomination of election.

For Circuit Judge.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE B. F. DAY,
as a candidate for Circuit Court Judge of this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.
We are authorized to announce
M. S. TYLER,
as a candidate for Circuit Court Judge of this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

For Commonwealth's Attorney.

We are authorized to announce
J. H. WILLIAMS, of Monroe, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 2nd Judicial District, composed of the counties of Bath, Montgomery, Monroe and Town, subject to the action of the Democratic party.
We are authorized to announce
WILLIAM A. YOUNG, of Brown, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 2nd Judicial District, composed of the counties of Bath, Montgomery, Monroe and Town, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

A Call.

The Democrats of Montgomery county are requested to meet at the Court House in Mt. Sterling, Ky., Saturday, June 13, 1896, at 1 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the Congressional Convention at Beattyville, June 18, 1896, to nominate a candidate for congress in this, the Tenth Congressional District.
H. R. FRENCH, Chairman.

In this issue we announce Mr. Wm. A. Young, of Morehead, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 2nd Judicial District. Mr. Young is not unknown to the people of the District, and more especially to the people of Montgomery, where he spent several years of his boyhood and early manhood. He is a growing young man, full of energy and push, and promises the people of the District a faithful discharge of the duties of the position if they will elect him. Mr. Young has had quite an extended experience in criminal practice since he entered upon the practice of his profession. His ability and his industry have gained for him quite a lucrative practice at his home and he promises the people of the District the same faithful service in their business that he has given his clients in his private capacity. Mr. Young submits his claims to the Democratic party. He asks the people of the District to give him the honor he craves and he will do all that lays in his power to prove in every way worthy the trust.
Mr. Young hopes for and of right expects a warm support, especially from the people of this county, since he has many friends among our younger business men and has never purposely done anything to make an enemy of any man in our midst.

In this issue Hon. James H. Williams, of Frenchburg, announces for Commonwealth's Attorney, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Williams is a Democrat, identified with his party's interests, a capable lawyer, honest and attentive. As a politician he is well informed and able to meet any man the Republicans could name, and discuss the issues of the day with fairness and ability. He will go before the people with the solid backing of his county, and should be the choice of his party will be an easy winner. Mr. Williams is a popular man, an able lawyer, and would be that violator of the law received the punishment prescribed by law; they would have no easy time to escape. Menace county has been very modest in her claims for public favor, which will be a point favorable to Mr. Williams.

Silver in The Lead.

Up to this time 34 States and Territories have so far indicated their choice for delegates to the Chicago Convention. These give Silver 427 votes as against 195 for Gold with 2 votes from Massachusetts doubtful. This estimate places Maryland solid in the gold column, though some of her 16 votes may go to silver. There are yet 13 States and Territories to hear from. A conservative estimate gives out of these to silver 136 and to gold 147 votes, leaving 15 votes doubtful. According to this estimate silver will go to Chicago with 563 votes and gold with 342 votes, with 17 votes in the doubtful column. The probabilities are this estimate is very nearly carried, and the result will not vary 10 votes either way from the estimate given.

This means the silver people will have no difficulty in organizing the convention and in making a platform, these motions only requiring a majority while the two-thirds rule applies to the nomination.

The white metal party is sweeping everything before it in the convention held by the States to appoint delegates to Chicago. This movement has taken hold on the people and is beyond all question going to dominate at the national convention. That it will sweep all before it in November, as it is doing in the Democratic primaries, is a thing by no means improbable. The masses know there is something wrong and are belligerently hunting a remedy. They have tried high protection and it has failed. They then asked for a tariff for revenue only and the party in power did not have the courage to carry out its pledges. Now where the free silver people offer a panacea for all ills the voters are not unlikely to take hold of the idea and try it. Free silver is the catchword to get voters that has been thrown out for a long time.

Democrats of Montgomery County.

Do not fail to keep in your minds that the convention to select delegates to attend the District Congressional Convention is called to meet here next Saturday afternoon. Do not forget that Hon. Thomas Turner, who has always been a strong advocate of bimetallism, is a candidate, and by reason of his life-long and consistent advocacy of these views is entitled to the support of this district in his race for Congress, and should have a solid backing from his home county.

Hon. W. J. Seitz, of Morgan county, candidate for Republican nomination for Congress, addressed the Republicans of this county at the Court House Saturday. His audience was principally of the strong seceded kind. Mr. Seitz is a typical Republican and preaches the doctrine of his predecessors—right or wrong. He is a forcible speaker and met with a hearty welcome at the hands of his party here, and will more than likely receive the support of this county.

A Cutting Affair.

Yesterday afternoon Jim Taylor, a colored man who works as a kitchen hand at the National Hotel went to his home on Sycamore street just East of the colored Methodist church, and found one George Hamilton, another darky, who works for the Monarch Milling Co. in his wife's room. Taylor was naturally indignant and while the woman ran out of the room Hamilton behind him the bed. Taylor pulled the bed from over Hamilton, who came at Taylor with a knife, cutting him once in the side, dismembering him, another gash in the neck barely missed the carotid artery, while a third vicious thrust laid open the muscles of the forearm. For sometime past Hamilton has been causing trouble between Taylor and his wife, Hamilton's own wife having left him because of his connection with the Taylor woman. After the cutting the wounded man was taken to Dr. Taulbee's office, where his wounds were given attention. Hamilton was arrested by Chief of Police Wilson and Mr. D. T. Apperson, whom Wilson had summoned to his assistance, and taken before Judge Turner who set the examining trial for to-morrow morning.

COMING!

Dr. Alberto Diaz, Cuban Apostle and Exile.

Dr. Alberto Diaz, "The Apostle to the Cubans," and at present, a political exile from Cuba by the command of Gen. Weyler, will address the people, of Mt. Sterling, next Friday evening at the Baptist church. Dr. Diaz was a Captain in the last Cuban rebellion before the present one, but in the meanwhile has been converted from Catholicism to the Protestant faith, and is now pastor of the largest Protestant congregation of Havana. He has been falsely accused of conspiracy in the present rebellion and was arrested, and was in danger of his life, but being a citizen of the United States was rescued. This is an occasion of unusual interest for the people of our community. The address is free for all.

The seventh annual Christian Endeavor Convention of the State of Kentucky which met at Paducah last week, was in many respects the best ever held in the State. Paducah Endevorers had been at work for months preparing for it, and gave the delegates a very cordial reception. There were between 300 and 400 delegates in attendance. Reports from the various societies in the State indicate that good work has been done during the year. One of the best features of the past year has been the mission work in the State Prisons at Frankfort and Eddyville. The Endevorers are making our Penitentiaries what they were intended to be, places for repentance. One of the features of this convention was the evangelistic services that were held each day at the shops and factories throughout the city. Prof. James Lewis Howe, of Va. Prof. Amos I. Wells, editor of the Golden Rule, Boston, and Rev. John E. Pounds, of Indianapolis were present and delivered addresses. The old officers were re-elected, and all Endevorers have entered upon the work of the coming year with renewed consecration. An earnest effort is being made to secure the International Convention for Louisville in '98.

A queer kind of a man who could but would not talk, was arrested here last week for breaking into freight cars. He made no defense and was sent to jail in default of a $500 bond to await the action of the grand jury. The evidence that he was a robber was several watches, notes, etc., which he carried on his person.

LATER.—Mr. A. A. Hazelrigg, County Attorney, has received a letter from C. E. Weaver, of Green-up county in answer to one written to him regarding a note for $25 found on the person of the queer man. The letter says the note is genuine and that it was stolen from one George Spencer on the night of May 31st. The same night a gold watch was stolen from a man by the name of Thompson. A horse was also stolen the same night and several houses burglarized. Mr. Weaver requests that the prisoner be held until authorities can reach here.

The stockholders of the North Middletown and Mt. Sterling Turnpike Co. will hold a business meeting at the Court-house, this city, June 15, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Spoons Free to All.

I read in the Christian Standard that Miss A. M. Fritz, Station A, St. Louis, Mo., would give an elegant plated hook spoon to any one sending her ten two-cent stamps. I sent for and found it so useful that I showed it to my friends, and made $13 in two hours, taking orders for the spoon. The hook spoon is a household necessity. It cannot slip into the dish or cooking vessel, being held in place by a hook on the back. The spoon is something housekeepers have needed ever since spoons were first invented. Any one can get a sample spoon by sending ten 2-cent stamps to Miss Fritz. This is a splendid way to make money around home.

Very Truly,

Did You Ever Make Money Easy?

Mr. Editor.—I have read how Mr. C. E. B. made so much money in the Dish Washer business, and think I have beat him. I am a young vet and have had little experience in selling goods, but have made over eight hundred dollars in ten weeks selling Dish Washers. It is simply wonderful how easy it is to sell them. All you have to do is to show the ladies how they work and they cannot help but buy one. For the benefit of others I will state that I got my start from the Mount City Dish Washer Co., St. Louis, Mo. Write to them and they will send you full particulars.

I think I can clear over $3,000 the coming year, and I am not going to let the opportunity pass. Try it and publish your success for the benefit of others.

Children's Day.

The first Sunday in June is observed as Children's Day by the Sunday-schools. The good women of the Christian church had prepared a beautiful program of recitations, songs, short speeches, etc., for the entertainment of the children. The lessons were dispensed with and the program carried out to the pleasure of all in attendance. The beautiful flowers, only less beautiful than the bright faces of the lovely little children, added much to the pleasure of day. The collection was a decidedly pleasant feature, superintendent and teachers being agreeably surprised at the amount of the offering. God bless the little ones.

Nervous Prostration

Cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Prolonged derangement of the nervous system not only affects the brain and mental powers, but develops diseases in some of the vital organs. The most dangerous of these indirect results is when the heart is affected. This was the case of the Rev. F. S. Farlow, Fawn River, Mich., who writes under date of Feb. 14, 1895:

"Fourteen years ago I had a slight stroke of paralysis. Overwork brought on nervous prostration. I was exceedingly nervous and the exertion of public speaking caused heart palpitation that threatened my life. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It cured my heart trouble, and two of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for my nervousness and feel better than I ever expected to feel again. I can speak for hours without tiring or having my heart flutter as it formerly did, and I have you to thank that I am alive today."

Dr. Miles' Remedies Restore Health

From the Chronicles of Hanna.

And behold, Bill-the-Still stood in the presence of Hanna, the Profit, and of Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, and he was much like unto the meekness of a lamb led to the slaughter.

And he was sore distressed, looking first at Hanna, the Profit, then at Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, and there was exceeding pleading in his eyes, as if he were imploring them.

But they heeded him not, for they were busily intent upon their own matters in which Bill-the-Still had no concern other than as they wished it.

Yet he spoke not, for on the mouth of him there was a muzzle preventing speech, and Hanna, the Profit, had control of it and would not let it be taken from him.

And there was a ring in the nose of Bill-the-Still with many strings to it. Verily, verily, it was so by reason of these things that Bill-the-Still was a spectacle of exceeding sadness.

And it came to pass that Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, drew nearer to Bill-the-Still and observed him and Bill-the-Still was greatly rejoiced therat.

And he stretched out his hands to the Chief Scribe, saying: I-t is he that this muzzle is to be removed from me?

Thereupon Hanna, the Profit, pulled the string of the ring in the nose of Bill-the-Still which held in his hands and turned away from Kohlstaet, the Scribe, saying: Whither are we drifting?

And Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, was wroth with Hanna, the Profit, and said unto him: Wherefore do you do this thing? Is he your slave?

Then Bill-the-Still bowed his head unto Hanna, the Profit, and stretched his hands unto Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, for he felt in his heart that the Chief Scribe was a kinder master.

And Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, was moved by the condition of Bill-the-Still, and he said unto Hanna, the Profit: Let him speak, I pray you for the time is ripe.

But Hanna, the Profit, shook his head and took another turn on the muzzle that closed the mouth of Bill-the-Still.

And Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, in no wise abated, said yet again unto Hanna, the Profit: Let him speak, I pray you, for the reason is at hand when it should be known of all men that our Man, the High Priest of the tribe of G. O. Pier, is in his heart favorable to the money which is sound, and from the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh.

Then was Hanna, the Profit, exceeding wroth with Kohlstaet, the Chief Scribe, and obtruding his chin and oscillating and boubler after the manner of the Hittite, he said unto him: Choose it, Cully, I'm runnin' da machine. See?

And Hanna, the Profit, snuffing his fingers, whistled, and Bill-the-Still came to him and lay at his feet.—New York Sun.

A FARM FULL OF MONEY.

Prof. Gudgeon in Busy Digging up Dollars.

He Finds a Large Crop of Silver in His Backyard, and is Harvesting It.

Middletown, O., June 4.—Prof. Gudgeon, of Jacksonburg, eight miles west of this city, is busily engaged in digging up ready-made wealth. A few days ago he noticed the edge of a silver dollar sticking up from the ground in his back yard. He got a shovel to dig it out, and with the first spade full of earth he was astonished to find that he had shovelled up dozens of other dollars also, which were just under the surface.

Gudgeon then kept on digging, and though he declines to name the exact amount of money he has unearthed, it is understood the amount will run up into the thousands of dollars.

The only explanation that can be given of the discovery is that in 1890 Nancy Beard, a wealthy widow, lived and died in a house which stood at the location of the buried treasure. She was known to be possessed of a great deal of cash, and when she died and her executor took possession of her estate and effects, he found all her stocks and securities in tact, but $10,000 in cash was missing which should have been on hand, according to her well-kept accounts. A diligent search was made for the lost money, but it could not be found. In time the matter was forgotten, and has only been recalled by Prof. Gudgeon's discovery.

Meanwhile he keeps on digging.—Cincinnati Tribune.

As Hannibal's burying place is haunted by between Scutari and Nicomedes in Asia Minor by a German expedition, a Mr. Antony Psychar sends a curious story to The Academy "It is now some forty years since I sat conversing with a friend in his villa on the shores of the Bosporus. That friend was Dr. Stephen Caradoc, one of the chief physicians to Sultan Mahmoud, and the father of the ex-Governor of Crete, a man who apart from his profound learning, was so highly respected for his character that even among the Turks themselves every Pasha's door was open to him, and he was welcome everywhere. "Something very strange happened to me yesterday," said the good Doctor to me; "very strange and very vexatious. I had gone to pay a visit to a Turk of my acquaintance on the Asiatic shore, an Aquilante residing at the village of Telenghiedji, and as we sat chatting together in his garden he at one asked me who and what Anubias was. "How come you to ask me such a question," said I to him, "and what do you know about the man whose name you just now mentioned?" "I know nothing about him," replied the Ulema, "but the men you see here at work at the back of my house dug up the other day from under the foundations a large marble slab with some letters cut into it, and out of curiosity I sent for the village gaber (baker), who was known to be able to read, and that's the name he told me was engraved upon the marble stone. I am sorry I cannot show this to you, for it has since been ground into powder."

Judge George B. Eastin, of Louisville, died Thursday in Rome, Italy, of congestion of the brain.

As improved. The voice of the speaker, round, full, sonorous, yet exquisitely modulated, was heard in the remotest corner of the vast auditorium.

"What in the orderly sequence of anthropological phenomena an emergency eventuates, the resultant effect of which is to decompose into their original elements the ligaments of nationality that have characterized the relations of one segregated portion of mankind society with another and to justify the portion thus segregated in arrogating itself among the cognates of governmental entities constituting the aggregated mass of humanity, the disjunctive and equidistantly infraligamentary to which the prescriptive regulations of deleterious organic routine and of the supreme organizer thereof smoulder the same, composing them the legitimate claimants, a decorous consideration for the formulated judgment of aggregated humanity places upon them the obligation of avouching the predisposing influences whose operation has superinduced the dichotomy."

He was a Boston eloquist reciting the Declaration of Independence.—Chicago Tribune.

"Cable" Knew a Thing or Two. A cab was driven to the twenty-fourth street entrance of the Hoffman house, and two young men, evidently in the third stage of a spree, got out and walked toward the entrance. Both were laughing and apparently enjoying a huge joke.

"Wait for us, driver," said one as the doors swung behind them. The driver looked after them, while a look of deep wisdom came into his face, which was emphasized when he laid his finger alongside of his nose in a knowing manner.

He didn't wait.—Cere. He got on his box and hurriedly drove around to the Broadway entrance and drew up to the curb just as the two young men made their exit.

"Drive round to meet you, gentlemen," he said. "Where do you want to go now?"

"Well, I guess we'll settle up and not go farther," said one of them, from whose face the former smile had fled.

They did settle up, and cabbie drove away whistling. "You can't lose me, Charley."—New York Herald.

Pinefulness and Vegetables.

An objection urged against vegetarianism is that it would make us too peaceable. A mixed diet is supposed to give restlessness, energy and love of domination, and, therefore, to give to races which adopt it some advantage over others which do not. The connection of food with racial character—if there is such a connection—is a matter which cannot now be discussed. The savage outs his enemy's heart because he thinks he thereby acquires his enemy's mental qualities. We know that the analogy is a false one, but we sometimes reason much in the same strain. The Anglo-Saxon race is supposed to acquire its energy from the quantity of meat which it consumes. We might with an equal show of logic contend that our energy is due to our drunkenness or our love of gambling. If national predominance be a desirable thing, that race will be the fittest to survive which has the greatest intelligence and the highest mental efficiency and which practices the greatest economy in the use of its resources.—Westminster Review.

The fortune teller did not recognize the young woman as a former visitor, and that was where she made a mistake.

"You will have quite a romance," predicted the fortune teller after the usual preliminaries, which consist principally of the transfer of a sum of money from one person to another, "and in the end you will marry a light gentleman and over-throw the world happily with him."

"How about the dark one that you said I was to marry when I consulted you last week?" asked the young woman, with very natural urgency. "Yes, yes, of course," said the fortune teller. "It seems a little conflicting, doesn't it? But it's easily explained. The gentleman is dark complexioned, but light hearted."—Chicago Post.

How One Prejudice Was Conquered.

Five years ago no well known woman in the west and world had ridden a bicycle through the streets. This machine was then generally considered to be vulgar, if not a clubman had ridden it to his club on a bicycle and claimed it to the railings, as he strode do now, the committee would have disapproved of his conduct, and he would have been a marked man among his fellow members for life. One winter several Parisian women of doubtful status commenced to cycle, and their example was immediately followed by the fashionable women of that city, and today seven men and women out of ten in the west end of London ride on this machine through the streets and in the parks.—London Truth.

A GOOD LAND ROLLER.

It is Easily and Cheaply Made and Does a Satisfactory Work.

"Last winter I came to me that I was in great need of a land roller, but how I could expend $25 or more for a roller when my crops were so poor and prices low was a problem not easily solved. I visited a young farmer living to another part of the town who had built a roller, taking the wheels of two old mowers for the foundation and connecting them by the turning roll of an old horse-power. The wheels were drilled and two inch maple staves were bolted on. I would probably have made use of his pattern, but every one who had an old mower within a day's journey would not part with the wheels. When they heard what I wanted they said they would build rollers."

"Thus writes a correspondent of Rural New Yorker, who accompanies his remarks with a sketch of a wheel of his own invention that suits him better than mowers wheels. He says:

"It is easily made and does away with the laborious task of drilling about 130 bolts holes through the rims of the wheels, besides a saving in bolts of nearly $5. One white ash tree, 30 inches across the stump, furnished material for roller and frame. The staves are sawed, beveled, from 3 inch plank at the mill. I used three foot bolts. The staves are spiked to the heads with No. 30 wire spikes, and an old wagon tire is clunked on the ends, which are fitted by the blacksmith and set at home.

"The frame is laid together by bolts. The axle or shaft is a piece of ordinary water pipe 1 1/2 inch outside measure, supported by strong pieces of iron or steel between the two sections. The cutter bar of an old mower is just about right for the support. The frame will balance with a man standing on the rear plank. I built a hopper directly over the shaft, to weigh with stones when desired. My roller was in use two weeks from the date of cutting the green tree. The only expenses were for sawing, blacksmithing, bolts and spikes, all of which did not exceed $3."

Pole Lina Beans.

An Ohio correspondent of the Ohio Farmer, writing from a bean growing section, tells how immense crops are grown on a small area. The majority of growers in this section stick to the pole lines. The only expenses were for sawing, blacksmithing, bolts and spikes, all of which did not exceed $3."

Growers have access to tons of fish offal. Often the ground is prepared and marked three feet each way and poles only three feet high are stuck. The beans are not allowed to go above these, but are kept pinched back. Holes are dug next the poles and some of the offal put in and covered over. This stands about two weeks before the beans are planted. The offal and plant until the ground is warm enough to insure quick germination. If this fish offal cannot be procured, the field must be made rich with well rotted stable manure or pure bonemeal, or a fish brand of commercial fertilizers will give equally good results. When ready to plant, follow rows and stick two beans in each hill, close to the pole, with the eye down. Never drop lima beans like corn, for the roots start at the eye, and if dropped in any way some of them come bottom up; others never grow at all and the field is uneven all season.

Cutting Seed Potatoes.

Judging from reports of results obtained and the various stations, whole tubers give larger yields than pieces cut into two and two eyes. There is the danger, however, in planting large tubers that too many stalks will appear. We append for the benefit of the general reader our notes from an Indiana station bulletin:

DEPTH OF TILING.

Two Principles That Ought to be Observed in Laying the Drain.

I have had a good deal of experience in laying tile and have always found that the water line, or water test, is always the safest. Where there is not sufficient water to run all the time, water must be drawn and poured in the drain to establish it. The first principle to consider should be, "Is there sufficient fall?" Too much fall is not desirable. There should be just fast enough, so the drain will be kept cleaned out. In laying the drain two principles should be adhered to: First, the drain should be kept as straight on the bottom as possible. Second, the drain should be laid out as straight as possible from beginning to outlet, says a writer in Michigan Farmer.

Where drains are anyway flat on the bottom, and say 80 or 100 rods long, it is the safest plan to put in catch basins or wells. I prefer the latter. I dig down 18 inches below the bottom of the drain and sufficiently wide so that when finished it will be about three feet in diameter on the inside. The well should be curved with stone. Build a little above ground and make a good board cover. This well is very convenient when you wish to admit other drains. Keep the well cleaned out and you may know your drain is all right.

Too much economy is often practiced in using small tile where larger ones are needed. This should be as straight as possible, with two good lands and smooth inside, and as nearly round as possible. It is poor economy to buy an inferior grade of tile. One tile in a drain flattened half an inch determines the capacity of the drain from where it is laid to the terminus of the drain. The same is true of one soft tile. I give it as my opinion that three inch tile is as all enough to be used in any drain. The benefits derived from underdrainage are too well known for me to make any comments. All may know that surface washing takes away the best of the soil; also that open ditches are a nuisance.

Cure For Onion Smut.

According to The New England Homestead, rotation of crops is the first remedy, as the smut seems to remain in the soil several years and may be spread through it by harrows, weedeas, rakes, by the feet of men or animals or by being washed from higher to lower ground. Starting in soil free from smut and transplanting to the smutted soil, if no other is available, is perhaps the best and simplest remedy, while the transplanted onions yield enough larger and earlier crops to warrant the expense on that account alone. Flowers of sulphur and air slaked lime, mixed in equal parts and mixed with the seed, may have a preventive effect. Of course all smutted onions, leaves, etc., should be gathered and burned, or they will spread the spores by the million.

A Round Silo.

A round silo situated in the barnyard of a barn similar to the diagram was visited the past winter and reported upon by Country Gentleman. The owner is more than pleased with it, and it is satisfactory that many are planning to build similar ones in their barnyards during the present season. The openings for throwing out the material are located in the corner A.

SILLO IN BARN.

There are about three feet of bottom, the first one 8 feet from the bottom and the rest about 4 feet apart. It will be noticed that the rest of the now can be utilized, and that there is virtually no lost space, since the triangle at A is needed for throwing out the material. A silo 14 feet in diameter and 24 feet high would cost, allowing that it had settled one quarter, about 2,700 cubic feet.

In examining the silo referred to it was noticed that the staves were entirely dry on the outside, and it was the opinion of all who were present that this method of construction would do away with the dry rot, which is so destructive to thick walled silos.

Cost of Corn Per Bushel.

A report issued by Secretary Cohn of the Kansas board of agriculture gives particulars in regard to corn raising in that state. The average cost of corn in the 45 Kansas corn counties of the state is $3.31 an acre, not counting interest or rent, and $5.71 including this item. The cost of corn per bushel for 25 years has averaged 14 1/2 cents, including rent or interest. The average price in this period has been a fraction over 37 cents a bushel. The cost of production, not including interest or rent, has been between 8 1/2 and 12 cents a bushel, according to the yield per acre. An average yield of 57 bushels per acre at the average price gives the farmer a fair return for his work and about 13 per cent on his investment.

Cutworm Destroyed.

The following is recommended by the California Fruit Grower: Mix three pounds of pure paria green with an ordinary quantity of wheat bran. This mixture may be done dry, taking great care that the paria green is equally distributed throughout the bran, or the green may be dissolved in water and the bran stirred in, making a uniform mixture. Three pounds of sugar or as many parts of molasses may be added as an appeal to the sweet tooth of the worm to take a fatal ration of the mixture. Put a handful of the mixture on a piece of board or strong paper and scatter it over the corn, and the cutworm will be practically harmless, for he will soon be dead.

HOMEMADE HORSEPOWER.

A Canadian Device Recently Described and Illustrated by Ohio Farmer.

The sketch illustrates a horsepower used on a farm floor in Blyth, Ont., and used in that section of country with satisfactory results for cutting straw or corn fodder. The large wheel in diagram is 12 or 14 feet in diameter, made of wood. The hub of the big wheel is 4 feet in diameter, made of inch boards nailed together with square hole in center to fit post. The spokes, eight in number, are 2 1/4 inch hemlock scantling, bolted to hub with two three-eighth inch bolts in each. The rim is made of three tiers of inch boards, cut the proper circle and about 7 inches wide. The two outside tiers project over the middle tier one inch, in order to make groove for chain to run in. The post A in diagram is 6 inches square, hard wood, rounded off at each end to run in bearings on floor and in overlay. The big wheel is fastened on post high enough for horses to walk underneath. The chain B is a size heavier than common plow chain.

The jack in illustration is made from the gearing of an old Buckeye mower. It is shown fastened to post in barn. A wooden pulley 15 inches in diameter, with groove for chain and bolted to ratchet wheel, originally on the main shaft of the old mower. D is the bevel gearing and F is a wooden pulley bolted to cog wheel for belt or rope to connect with cutting box. X is the tightening pulley, hinged at (a) with weight G attached to keep chain taut.

United States Oranges.

It looks as if the near future would see the orange market of the United States well supplied. According to The Farmers' Review, the California orange crop for this year will be about 8,400,000 boxes, worth about $5,000,000. These oranges grow on 10,000 acres of orange orchard. But there are said to be 80,000 acres of new and unbearing bearing tobacco in California. In Florida the great frosts of last year killed the orange trees over wide areas. The trees were cut off at the stumps and are now growing up, and some of them are scheduled to begin to bear in two years more. Altogether it appears that a great many trees of this kind of fruit are in process of growth.

Cabbage Root Maggot.

A correspondent of The American Agriculturist writes: Last season I had some 8,000 cabbage plants. As soon as they were attacked by maggots I soaked a plug of ordinary chewing tobacco in about four pails of water and added a good tablespoonful of crude carbolic acid. Then with a small mouthed sprinker I put a little around each plant regardless of whether it was affected or not, and immediately they vanished and there was no more difficulty.

Market Crates.

Crates and boxes come handy for taking produce to market. When there is only one tier in the wagon box, no precautions are required, but for a number of tiers placed one above the other we need something to prevent the upper ones from sliding about. A bushel box much used by Iowa market gardeners and originally sketched and described in The Market Garden is made of white wood or good pine, as follows: Take two side pieces a half inch thick, 34 1/2 inches wide, 36 inches in length and two end pieces 1 inch thick, 6 1/2 inches wide, 12 inches long. The bottom can be made in one or more pieces. The angle pieces at the ends of boxes, as shown in accompanying sketch, are a half inch thick, fastened with four screws. After the box is made up three strips, each a half inch thick and 1 inch wide, are nailed across the bottom. This makes an inch air space between each two boxes. Three strips of light up iron are then nailed around the ends and middle of the boxes, which add much to their strength. Some vegetables, like peas, heat very quickly. The air space prevents this, and is also needed to admit of a better fill. Of course the dimensions of the box can be changed in each particular case to fit the wagon box, and they will be all right if made so as to hold 2,150 cubic inches. Transplanted onions are usually a month earlier.

Many symptoms of catarrh, headache, carache, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc., are the result of decayed teeth and roots of teeth. To be cured of these aches and pains one must commence at the origin, which are the teeth and gums, which is only cured by the skillful treatment of a dentist. Those who are of a nervous and delicate condition can come and have teeth extracted and filled and feel as calm as if they had no work performed.

Dr. Bender guarantees all work and does as he advertises. Come early and avoid the rush, as his rooms are always crowded. Office hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day. Free hours, 8:30 to 9:30 each day.
